Coefficients are standardized and interpreted relative to encoded reference categories; they indicate association, not causality.